This is the second report of 2016 from the Monitoring Committee established by Government to monitor and drive implementation of the measures contained in the Action Plan for Jobs 2016. It outlines progress made on measures due for completion in the second quarter of 2016.

The Government published the fifth in its multi-annual Action Plan for Jobs series in January this year. This Plan, which contains 304 actions to be implemented in 2016 by all 16 Government Departments and by 46 agencies under the remit of these Departments, will build on the progress made since 2012 to improve supports for job-creating businesses and remove the barriers to employment creation across the economy. These actions are in addition to the over 2,300 actions already implemented under Action Plan for Jobs 2012, 2013, 2014 and 2015 cumulatively, and reported on by the Monitoring Committee in its previous quarterly reports (see www.djei.ie).

There was an increase in full time employment of 30,700 and an increase in part-time employment of 16,300. Over the period since the launch of the Action Plan for Jobs in quarter 1 2012, over 151,000 jobs have been created in the Irish economy. Update: Complete

As part of the Government’s €250m Regional Enterprise Development Initiative, Enterprise Ireland has introduced a series of new competitive funding initiatives in the areas of entrepreneurship, innovation, enterprise infrastructure and job creation.

The objective is to bring forward fresh collaborative initiatives to boost enterprise and job creation in the regions. An initial fund of €50m was made available for competitive calls.

The first €10m of funding was made available for two calls, of €5m each respectively, in respect of collaborative projects involving (i) the LEOs and (ii) Community Enterprises and other business support organisations.

The focus of this funding is on community-driven enterprise initiatives and how all the local players, public and private, can work together to maximise job creation, through the utilisation of existing infrastructure and the leveraging of nationally available enterprise supports.

On 1 June, Enterprise Ireland announced the allocation of €5m in funding for local and regional initiatives to support new businesses and jobs across the country under the LEO Competitive Fund (€2m allocation) and the Community Enterprise Initiative (CEI Scheme), (€3m allocation).

The Accelerator Development Scheme (€3m) is the first competitive initiative to be launched under the €40m competitive regional jobs fund announced by the Government on 15 January.

As a key action under the Action Plan for Jobs 2016 the scheme aims to increase the number of accelerators operating in the Irish market supporting entrepreneurship, company creation and job creation in new Manufacturing and Internationally Traded Services companies, particularly those outside the greater Dublin area.

Submissions were received by the deadline of 31 March and the assessment process is nearing conclusion.

Enterprise Ireland’s Cluster Initiative (€500k) closed for applications on the 21 April and is in the final stage of assessment.

The challenges for the Biopharma industry, working in collaboration with education and training providers and stakeholders, are to:

- increase awareness of the range of attractive careers available,
- attract a greater number of available graduates from relevant fields of study,
- ensure the relevance of biopharma education and training programmes,
- support the upskilling of jobseekers for available job openings, and
- continue the upskilling of those in the workplace.

The objectives of the review were to:
1. Identify progress which has been made generally in implementing recommendations; and
2. Identify and prioritise key outstanding recommendations which it is considered are still important to progress.

A total of thirteen sectoral reports published by the EGFSN between 2008 and 2015 were reviewed in this exercise. There were a total of 109 high-level recommendations in these reports.

A presentation on the work carried out was made to the EGFSN at its meeting on 15th June.

Several common thematic areas recur in the recommendations which are still valid, e.g.:
- Importance of aligning education and training provision with industry’s requirements.
- Establishment of standardised work placements, internship opportunities and structured PhDs.
- Establishment of clear career paths within sectors and communication of career opportunities in those sectors.
- Establishment of upskilling and Continuing Professional Development (CPD) programmes for employees.
- Clear role for Industry in meeting their skills requirements.

At its next meeting in September 2016, the Expert Group will consider the steps to be taken to progress this work further.

Update: Complete

The Expert Group on Future Skills Needs (EGFSN) was established in 1997 to advise the Government on emerging and future skills needs of the economy. The Group’s work is widely disseminated to education and training providers, industry bodies, guidance counsellors, and through relevant websites.

As part of its 2016 work programme, the EGFSN agreed to review how it communicates its key messages to stakeholders and whether there is scope for using additional avenues or media tools to deliver these messages. The overarching objective is to ensure the maximum awareness of the emerging skills needs of the Irish economy so that these skills needs, can be met in a timely way.

The EGFSN considered its Communications Strategy in the first half of 2016, and agreed it can make better use of more concise report formats and visual tools to help deliver its key messages.

A new Communications Strategy will be developed in the second half of 2016.

There is currently no arrangement for any sharing of front and back office administration functions among aviation regulatory authorities (Commission for Aviation Regulation and Irish Aviation Authority).

Action 5.2.1 of the National Aviation Policy (2015) states: “The organisational arrangements for provision of safety and economic regulatory oversight will be restructured taking account of the review of the appropriate model for airport charges regulation and of developments and timelines under the Single European Sky (SES) legislation. In advance of any restructuring options being pursued there will be full consultation with interested parties.”

The review of airport charges regulation was completed in December 2015 and a public consultation exercise on that review and on the future policy for the airport charges regulation is underway at present, after which the NAP Action 5.2.1 will be addressed.

Update: The independent review of airport charges regulation was completed in December 2015 and a public consultation process is now underway. Following that process, the Department will consider all of the submissions received along with the recommendations of the report with the intention of finalising and publishing a policy on airport charges regulation by the end of 2016.

Public Transport Sector

The position in relation to public transport regulation is that no sectoral regulators have been identified in the public transport sector where it would be appropriate that they would share front office (legal/economic) and back office (IT/Personnel/Administration) administrative functions. Therefore, the above step under Action No. 130 is not applicable to the public transport sector.

It would not be appropriate for the National Transport Authority (NTA) and the Commission for Railway Regulation (CRR) to share front office and back office functions. As it stands at present, a shared services approach already applies internally in CRR and internally in the NTA in relation to the administration and delivery of several separate regulatory functions.

Update: Complete

The agri-food sector is Ireland’s largest indigenous industry, directly and indirectly employing over 230,000 people. The sector is continuing to perform extremely well, increasing exports by 51% since 2009 to reach a record value of €10.8 billion in 2015. The strongest categories in terms of export growth were beverages (+10%), beef (+6%), and seafood (+4%). The sustained growth in exports of Irish Whiskey, up by an estimated 18%, was the most significant driver in the beverages category. The growth in dairy exports, up 4%, occurred in the face of an exceptionally adverse trading environment and reflects the strong growth in the volume of specialist nutrition powders (infant formula), which increased by 25% overall and by 40% to China alone.

Each year, Irish food and drink is exported to over 175 markets around the world; Ireland is the largest net exporter of beef in the EU and the Northern Hemisphere, exporting nearly 90% of what we produce each year; We produce over 10% of the world’s infant formula and Irish Whiskey is now the fastest growing spirit category in the world. We also produce 50% of the world’s cream liqueurs.

Continuing its support for the food and drink sector Enterprise Ireland in Quarter 2 approved capital investments which included a number of significant capital projects (i.e. valued in excess of €500,000) Research & Development, and Innovation projects. Quarter 2 also saw the approval and launch of the Meat Technology Centre (see action 252). The current investment pipeline is strong.

Enterprise Ireland’s Capital projects help companies undertake ambitious company expansions that will create employment and grow sales in international markets;

Research and Development projects aim to develop novel products and services with a clear competitive advantage in their target market while Management Development Programmes for Managers and Client Companies supports the development of strong leadership in client companies.

These investments will enable companies to increase employment through sustainable and substantially increased sales. Innovation Projects introduce companies to the research expertise in Irish Higher Education Institutes with the aim of generating innovative technologies leading to job creation.
